SUMMARY

On 11th February 2021, the Government published a white paper setting out proposals for health and care integration. The paper set out legislative proposals for a Health and Care Bill. It builds on the collaborations we have seen over the past few years, through COVID to shape a system that's better able to serve people in a fast-changing world.

At its heart, however, this bill is about supporting health and care system working. The proposals build on the NHS Long Term Plan. They aim to:

- Remove the barriers that stop the system from being truly integrated, help integrated care systems play a greater role, delivering the best possible care, with different parts of the NHS joining up better; and the NHS and local government forming partnerships to address some of society's most complex health problems.
- Use legislation to remove transactional bureaucracy that has made decision-making harder setting out a more joined-up approach built on collaborative relationships, so that more strategic decisions can be taken to shape local health and care. It's about population health: using the collective resources of the local system, NHS, local authorities, the voluntary sector and others to improve the health of local areas.
- Ensure a system that is more accountable and responsive to the people that work in it and the people that use it.

At the HWBB there will be a presentation summarising the proposals and highlighting those areas with implications for how we integrate care in North East London and Havering.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The HWBB is asked to note the publication of the White Paper and comment on the implications for our work in BHR and the development of integrated health and care.

IMPLICATIONS AND RISKS

The direction of travel as indicated in the White Paper is supportive of the development of integrated care locally. The consequences of the White Paper will be considered over the next few weeks with a view to amending our local work programme, risk log and system design.
